

Have a Very Happy New Year!

The Coye Law Firm has already made some changes in 2011 and we want share some of them with you. Read about our recent updates below.

Helping People with Bankruptcy Claims

Over the past few years, bankruptcy and foreclosure cases have been on the rise due to the poor economy. In an effort to help distressed homeowners and consumers, the attorneys and staff of the Coye Law Firm began taking a limited number of these cases beginning in late 2009. In 2010, we decided to put a pause on taking in new bankruptcy cases. Now that our hourly department is beginning to grow, the Coye Law Firm started 2011 by again helping consumers file for and work through bankruptcy.

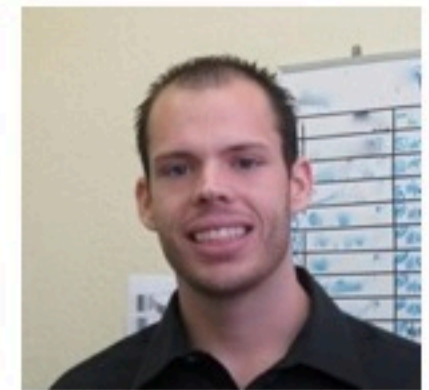

We want to help individuals, families, and businesses work through their financial problems by guiding them through the bankruptcy system and paperwork. Depending on your or your business's financial state, we can help you file for Chapter 7, Chapter 11, or Chapter 13 bankruptcy. Call us today or visit our website to learn about your options.

From Intern to Law Clerk

Many members of the Coye Law Firm's staff began working as interns during their undergraduate years and continued as case managers or law clerks as they go through law school. Bryan Dangler began working for the Coye Law Firm in the summer of 2009 as an intern in the workers' compensation department, but had to leave the firm in 2010 when he graduated from the University of Central Florida and began work towards his law degree at Barry University's School of Law.

After Bryan completed his first semester, he chose to continue working at the Coye Law Firm, but now he handles bankruptcy and hourly cases for clients. Bryan graduated first in his class at UCF and continues his academic success at Barry.

Family Law

There are many areas of the law that can easily overlap in certain types of claims. Now that our firm has four attorneys, we are able to expand our practice areas to include the aspects of family law that might arise from an injury or accident. Clients might find that divorce, child support, alimony, or other legal considerations arise during their claim for benefits.

In addition to bankruptcy claims, our hourly and transactional department is happy to help families and individuals work through these issues. If you are a current client of ours, mention to your case manager or attorney that you're interested in family law representation and we may be able to help. If we are unable to, we can point you in the direction of someone who can.

Need Claim-related Investigation? EreYaGo!

Our attorneys and case managers know that the facts of personal injury or workers compensation claims are often disputed. That's why Dale McDyer, a senior case manager with experience in private investigation, visits the scene of an accident or an injury to take pictures and document dangerous conditions.

Because Dale's contribution to cases is so important, the Coye Law Firm has incorporated it's own private investigation business, called EreYaGo. The title comes from a common saying that one person uses when delivering information or documents to another; a short hand version of "here you go." Our new company will conduct general private investigation services when they work to the advantage of our client's cases.

The Coye Law Firm continues to represent consumers and employees in their claims for personal injury, workers compensation, and Social Security disability benefits. Call our offices today at 800-648-4941 to speak with someone who can evaluate your situation and determine if we can help you with your claim.
